DROUGHT ATTACKS GEORGIA

The state of Georgia is in the midst of a major drought. Experts predict that, unless it rains ‘cats and dogs’ real soon, the whole city of Atlanta will have no drinking water in four months. Lake Lanier, the source of Atlanta’s water delivery system, is now at only 20 percent of its usual level. To make matters worse, when Georgia water officials tried to block the flow of the Chattahoochee River southward to Alabama and Florida, those states threatened Georgia with lawsuits. They claimed that they were just as desperate for and entitled to that river water as Georgia was.

State officials asked the local Cherokee Indians to do a rain dance. The Indians told them they would do a rain dance when the state returned all the land that it stole from the Cherokees. Officials hired the nation’s number one water finder. He found a still for making whiskey.

Finally, the governor himself held a press conference on the steps of the state capitol building. He asked all the media to bow their heads, raised his hands to heaven, and prayed. The Georgia Association of Atheists immediately sued the governor for conducting prayer sessions on state property.

1 The problem is that

1

- A – if it rains heavily, the city of Atlanta will not have drinking water.
- B – it has not rained at all in Georgia for four months.
- C – Lake Lanier delivers 20 percent of Atlanta’s drinking water.
- D – if it does not rain, people will suffer from lack of drinking water.

2 Alabama and Florida wanted to bring Georgia to court because

2

- A – there was not enough water in the rivers of these two states.
- B – Georgia wanted to stop the flow of the river to the south.
- C – Georgia tried to get water from rivers in Alabama and Florida.
- D – Georgia refused to share water from Lake Lanier with Alabama and Florida.

3 There were other attempts to obtain more drinking water that failed because

3

- A – the Indians absolutely refused to do the rain dance.
- B – the water finder is still looking for the water.
- C – the condition of the Indians has not been fulfilled.
- D – the water finder drank a lot of whiskey.

I NEED WATER FOR MY CLIENTS

Cynthia and George went shopping together at Wal-Mart. ‘I need a water dispenser for my office,’ Cynthia told George. ‘What do you mean by water dispenser?’ George asked. ‘You know, one of those things that they put the big five-gallon jug upside down into. Then you can pour yourself cold water using the blue handle, or hot water using the red handle,’ Cynthia said.

George tried to tell her that she had too few clients coming to her office to need such a dispenser. He told her to buy a case of bottled water. She could keep the bottles cold in the office refrigerator. Plus, she had a stove and a coffeemaker in her office, so she could use either of them to produce hot water for her clients or herself.

‘A contract with a water company is going to cost you at least $30 a month,’ he argued. ‘And maybe you won’t even be consuming that much water a month. Why don’t you wait a few months and see how many clients you get and then decide if a water dispenser is absolutely necessary? If it is, buy it then.’

In addition, he argued, the trunk of her car was too small for the dispenser to fit into. Nor would it fit into her back seat. So, ‘end of argument,’ he concluded. They left Wal-Mart. Cynthia dropped George off at his place and then drove back to Wal-Mart. The dispenser was in a box that was almost the size of Cynthia, but she carted it out to the parking lot and managed, somehow, to get it into her trunk. That night, when George called, he asked, ‘You didn’t go back to Wal-Mart and buy that thing, did you?’ ‘Of course not!’ she told him.

4 A water dispenser

---	--

- B – is a thing that is needed in every office.

5 George does not agree with Cynthia’s idea because

5

- A – she will have to pay less than $30 every month.
- B – she should first get either a stove or a coffeemaker.
- C – she may not need so much water every month.
- D – if she buys it, only few customers will come to her office.

6 Cynthia

6

- A – lied to George about what she did after she drove him home.
- B – had no problem getting the dispenser into her car.
